HEAD OF OTC
TAKES BLAME
IN RENT PUSHFLEMING SAYS HE DIDN'T KNOW HOW
TRUMAN STOOD

BY STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming shouldered full responsibility today for the 10 percent rent increase order which President Truman personally quashed at the last minute.

Fleming, head of the Office of Temporary Controls, went before the Senate Banking Committee to explain the mysterious mixup which has intrigued the capital since the order was almost issued Wednesday.

He said he felt that many landlords were entitled to higher ceilings, and that the easiest way was to grant an across-the-board raise rather than try to make individual changes.

He discussed the rental problem in general with the president, he said, and went away thinking that he was justified in ordering a general increase.

President Steps In
"At the time," he explained, "I did not know the president had three times expressed himself against a general increase."

His disclosure ended a spurge of speculation as to who ordered the ceiling boost. Few guessed Fleming, for he was out of town.

The square-built, beribboned general said he was called to Iowa by the death of his mother but before leaving instructed his deputy, James W. Follin, to "put in a general raise in rent ceilings."

OPA, now part of Fleming's control office, began grinding out the announcement Wednesday, on the eve of hearings on rent control before the banking committee headed by Senator Tobey (R-NH).

But Mr. Truman stepped in when the order reached the White House late in the day, Fleming testified. The president declared any general increase was "unwarranted" and forbade its issuance, saying the decision should be left to Congress.

Instead, it was decided to grant the individual adjustments wherever necessary, and "as expeditiously as possible," Fleming said.

Extension Recommended
The Senate committee—which today heard a long list of property owners' spokesmen seek either an increase or an end of rent ceilings—started a quest for the "person in authority," as Tobey put it, who began the "comedy of errors."

Fleming hastened back to Washington and told his story to a packed hearing-room. He wound up by declaring:

"I recommend that the law be reenacted substantially in its present form."

The rent control act expires June 30. Fleming said he believes the extension should run for 12 more months because "inflationary pressures on rentals are much more powerful now than they were after World War I."

AMOS HAS OPERATION

Hollywood, Jan. 31 (AP)—The condition of Freeman Gosden, radio actor who underwent a kidney operation Wednesday, was described as "good" today, but an NBC spokesman said it was extremely doubtful that he could appear on his program Tuesday night.

He is "Amos" of the Amos and Andy duo.

Flat State Income
Levy Proposed To Pay Veterans Bonus

Lansing, Jan. 31 (AP)—Legislation to impose a flat one per cent tax on personal incomes of Michigan citizens to pay for a veterans' bonus was prepared in the Senate today.

Senator Otto W. Bishop, Alpena Republican and chairman of the Senate finance committee, said he and Senator Harold D. Tripp, Allegan Republican, expected to introduce the bill next week.

Bishop estimated it would produce about $20,000,000 in revenues, but other senators said that was just a guess. The cost of the bonus has been estimated at $17,500,000 annually.

The bill would levy the tax on all persons filing a federal income tax return, taxing one per cent of the taxable net income (before federal exemptions) but would allow state exemptions of $1,000 for a single person and $2,000 for a married person. It would be collected at the same time and for the same period as the federal tax.

The tax would end June 30, 1967, the date for final payment of the bonus bond issue, or upon the liquidation of the bonds, Bishop said.

The rumored special exemption for veterans proposed in preliminary discussions of the measure did not materialize, but Bishop said he would not be surprised if such a clause were written into the bill on the floor of the legislature.

Senators explained that a graduated state income tax has been held by attorneys general to be unconstitutional in Michigan because of the state's "uniform taxation" clause.

HIGH REVENUE
TAX SLASHINGCONGRESS REMAINS
CONFUSED ON HOW TO MAKE CUTS

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Republican tax-slashing plans got a boost today from an estimate by congressional tax experts that revenues next year will reach $37,928,000,000—$200,000,000 above President Truman's figures.

Yet, all was confusion as to how the easing of the tax load may be shared as between the little and big man.

Meanwhile, Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) took to the radio with a charge that Republicans, in their determination to cut taxes 20 percent, are threatening the nation's military security and also "the financial security of every American" who has invested in government bonds.

The Republicans, he said, "the atmosphere befogged" and are "misleading our people in the hope of gaining personal or party advantage."

Politicians Look Ahead
These developments came close on the heels of yesterday's statement by Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) disowning a previous Republican statement calling for an "across the board" slash in income taxes which would give large and small

POWER IN ATOM
BOMB IMPROVEDResearch Continues On Stronger Weapons,
Congress Told

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today that "research and development work on improved atomic weapons is in progress."

The statement apparently means that work is under way on a more powerful bomb than the type used at Nagasaki and in the Bikini tests. This type, in turn, has been officially described as more powerful than the first bomb dropped at Hiroshima.

The disclosure was made, without amplification, in a report to congress which said that changes being made in the process of separating uranium 235 at Oak Ridge, Tenn., will permit savings in costs and a reduction in the number of employees. U-235 is a fissionable element which can maintain a chain reaction and is used in the atomic pile.

The report also said the commission plans "to consult with representatives of interested American industries in such fields as utilities, electrical manufacturing, chemicals and others, in order to assure broad participation by private enterprise in its research and development program."

Senators considering the qualifications of David E. Lilienthal to be chairman of the commission, meanwhile, heard a denial from him that he is a Communist.

Belgium Says
Germany Will Need Watching

London, Jan. 31 (AP)—Military occupation of Germany for 25 to 40 years was suggested to the deputy foreign minister council today by Belgium, doormat of German invasion armies in two World Wars, American informants reported.

Baron Heve De Gruben, who presented Belgium's recommendations, said complete military occupation might not be necessary for such a long period, but that strategic areas and zones where war industries might spring up should be controlled for that period at least.

A tapering off process in military occupation elsewhere might provide a transition period for Germans to accommodate themselves to a world of peace, he suggested.

Baron De Gruben's views were given in response to a question from the Soviet deputy, Feodor Gousev, who said the opinion from a country occupied twice within memory should be of particular value.

The deputy foreign ministers council proceeded harmoniously for a change today.

American and Soviet deputies were disclosed to be in a wide area of agreement on small power participation in the German peace making, and Yugoslavia did not renew her effort, which produced fireworks yesterday, to exclude Hans Plesch, an Austrian delegate.

Robert Murphy, the U. S. deputy for Germany, appeared to have brought the United States and Russia closer together on one of the conference's most controversial issues when he told a reporter he wanted "constant consultation by the smaller nations" with all the deputies' committees.

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—R. V. Fletcher, Washington, president of the Association of American railroads, said today the present freight car shortage should ease up by the end of the year.

"I have received assurances from steel manufacturers," he said at a news conference, "that they would make available sufficient steel to manufacture 7,000 cars a month."

Fletcher said there were 78,000 cars on order, and that if the monthly rate was maintained the orders would be filled by next Jan. 1. He added, however, that orders "undoubtedly" would increase.

Fletcher, who assumed the presidency of the Association following the death of John J. Peile, was continued as president today at a meeting of member roads.

The association named Dr. J. H. Parmelee, Washington, vice president in charge of the bureau of railway economics. Parmelee was formerly the director of the bureau.

ARCTIC COLD
AFTER STORMMILWAUKEE STILL TIED UP IN BIG SNOWDRIFTS

(By The Associated Press)
The mid-continent, parts of it still dazed or glazed by late January's freakish weather antics, began feeling the lash of a new cold wave Friday.

As a mass of Arctic air moved into the United States in parts of northern Montana plummeted to 30 degrees below zero.

The cold air, which was moving slowly eastward, was expected to bring readings of 10 to 20 below in Wyoming, zero to 20 below in Colorado, 35 below in northern Minnesota, 20 to 25 below in Iowa and 10 to 25 below in Wisconsin. A minimum of zero was forecast for Chicago by Saturday night.

The cold weather brought an abrupt halt to freakish weather conditions which caused tornadoes, high winds, blinding blizzards, heavy rains and driving sleet over widespread areas Wednesday night and Thursday at a cost of 28 lives.

A blanket of deep snow covered most midwest states and traffic and communications still were paralyzed in some places.

Newspapers By Radio
At Milwaukee, Wis., transportation still was locked in huge drifts measuring up to 15 feet. Some 18.1 inches of snow fell in 23 hours and a day later schools, offices, banks and factories still were closed. Railroads were attempting to resume schedules on a curtailed basis.

Single traffic lanes were opened on some highways in southern Wisconsin. Fresh milk deliveries were cut off, but most Milwaukee dairies had sufficient supplies to run through Saturday. Because of disrupted delivery schedules, the Milwaukee Journal broadcast the contents of its newspaper over the radio.

In Iowa, communications were gradually being restored to 85 cities isolated by the snow. A half dozen highways in the northern Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Owen J. Cleary, president of the Cleary Business College at Ypsilanti, was appointed to the State Liquor control Commission today with Governor Sigler's expressed wish that he be made the chairman.

Cleary was Sigler's first change in a commission which was one of the governor's major campaign targets. Sigler promised a liquor "clean-up."

Cleary, 47, was a Republican candidate for lieutenant governor last summer, commanded the 31st Infantry of the Michigan State Troops in Detroit during the last war and last summer was named deputy chief of staff by former Governor Harry F. Kelly to organize the new National Guard. He was placed on the retirement list this month.

The commission, which normally accedes to a governor's wish as to whom shall be chairman, is expected to put Cleary in charge as soon as he is confirmed by the Senate, probably next week.

Cleary succeeds Jay R. Pearce, of Houghton, who resigned this morning. Pearce was not confirmed by the Senate and was subject to removal at the governor's will.

Chairman Felix H. Flynn said he would not object to an appointee of the new governor taking over the chairmanship but he said he would object to being dismissed from the commission, as has been rumored.

"I believe I have done an honest and efficient job," Flynn said. "I should know what is wrong. I have no animosity toward the governor but why should five years of service be written off without explanation?"

Of those who leaped, only Vick and his son were found alive. The father died 40 hours later.

State Farm Bureau Favors Repeal Of Tax Diversion Law

Lansing, Jan. 31 (AP)—Repeal of the sales tax diversion amendment at the April election was recommended by the Michigan Farm Bureau board of directors here today.

The board forwarded a resolution to governor Sigler and the legislature asking for the repeal "to return to the legislature its proper responsibility for deciding at each session how much of the available financial resources of the state shall be distributed to units of government."

The Farm Bureau opposed the diversion amendment at the November election.

Budget Slash
May Cut Off
Million Jobs

Washington, Jan. 31. (AP)—Firing of 1,000,000 of the government's 2,300,000 civilian employees, at an annual saving of $3,500,000,000, was proposed formally by Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) today to the Senate-House budget committee.

Chairman Knutson (R-Minn.) of the House ways and means committee said "it was the general feeling" of the budget group, which is to set a ceiling on federal spending, that government personnel can be cut by Taber's figure. The "firing" would be accomplished by cutting off appropriations for salaries of the 1,000,000 employees.

Taber, chairman of the budget committee, disclosed there was disagreement at the meeting, as to whether it was practical to cut off 1,000,000 employees. He said some committee members maintained such a cut would injure government functions.

Knutson said he did not think so.

"We figure a cut of a million wouldn't cripple the government," Knutson commented.

"In 1935, the government had 720,000 employees, in 1939 the figure was 900,000. Now it is 2,300,000. If we cut 1,000,000 off we still would have 400,000 more than in 1939."

Taber said the government has "at least 250,000" civilian employees with the occupation forces abroad, "and this number still is going up."

As for the 1,000,000 overall cut in federal employees, Taber said this would "save $3,500,000,000 in salaries and $1,000,000,000 in incidentals."

UNITY SOUGHT
BY GREEN ON LABOR FRONTUNWANTED LAWS TO BE FOUGHT BY UNIONS

BY HOWARD W. WARD
Miami, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—The AFL proposed a merger with the CIO tonight in a sudden move to unify all U. S. labor in a fight against "objectionable" legislation.

The AFL executive council of 15 top labor leaders unanimously authorized President William Green to send a letter to CIO President Philip Murray suggesting consolidation of their more than 13 million members.

CIO-Founder John L. Lewis, now an AFL vice president, would be one of the AFL's five negotiators for the proffered unification.

Split In 1936
The CIO broke away from the AFL in 1936. Last peace conferences ended in failure in 1939. Green wrote to Murray in reply to the CIO chief's communication of last December 5, urging unity of action to meet the political, economic and legislative threats against unions. Murray had not suggested actual merger.

Green appointed a committee of five to meet with a like committee from the CIO, if the offer is accepted by Murray. On the AFL's committee with Green are Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers; William L. Hufschman, head of the carpenters; Daniel J. Tobin, chief of the teamsters; George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the AFL.

The aging Green, who has headed the AFL since 1924, offered in 1944 to retire as president if it would help to bring about a united labor front.

Green said that in view of Murray's letter, he thought the CIO president would act "favorably" on the proposal to get together.

In Pittsburgh, Murray said: "This is the first I've heard of it (Green's proposal) and I certainly wouldn't have any comment on it now."

STUDY OF DEER YARDS STARTED

Hesterburg Arrives To Begin Manager Work In Escanaba Area

Gene A. Hesterburg of the game division of the department of conservation, has arrived in Escanaba to begin his work in management of deer wintering yards in the Escanaba area, assisting Howard Eldred, district game manager.

Hesterburg is one of four war veterans who will tackle the deer-yard management program in the Upper Peninsula, it is announced by H. D. Ruhl, chief of the conservation department's game division.

Recently receiving his master's degree in wildlife management at the University of Michigan, Hesterburg previously spent five years in military service. Prior to that he obtained his Bachelor of Forestry degree at Purdue. Mrs. Hesterburg and their one child will move to Escanaba as soon as Mr. Hesterburg finds a dwelling for them here.

Walter H. Petraborg, who got his training at Carleton College and the University of Minnesota, will be stationed at Baraga. Elmer R. White of Chicago, just graduated with a wildlife management degree from the Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, will be stationed at Newberry. These three will cover field work on Upper Peninsula deer yards while the fourth, Vernon Gunvalson, a University of Minnesota graduate, will assist in the wildlife management studies at Cusino wildlife experiment station.

Work At Iron Mountain Will Begin About June 30

Washington, D. C. (WNS) — Construction on the 200-bed VA general medical and surgical hospital at Iron Mountain, Mich., will begin around June 30, 1947, the War Department said.

Army Engineers said the contract for the structure would be awarded before June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

The Iron Mountain hospital is one of 63 hospitals turned over by the Veterans Administration to the Army Engineers for construction, and is a part of a $770,000,000 construction program involving 74 hospitals and 23 major additions.

ester-biologists will be an up-to-date survey of deer yarding areas, the merchantable timber and the condition of the deer herd in them. They will develop plans both for emergency spot cuttings to alleviate deer starvation when necessary, and for long range management that would assure maximum production of browse for deer.

STORM'S FURY MISSES DELTA

All Highways Open To Traffic; Trains On Schedule Again

Delta county missed the full fury of a storm that lashed the Middle West and yesterday dug itself out of two-foot deep drifts without difficulty, while continued light snow and cold northerly winds were a foretaste of weather forecast for the weekend.

All roads in the county and main trunklines in the Upper Peninsula were reported open to traffic and ferry service at the Straits of Mackinac was resumed yesterday morning.

The wind that Thursday afternoon reached a velocity of more than 40 miles an hour abated within a few hours, and ice continued firm in Little Bay de Noc.

Commercial fishermen were out yesterday far south of Portage Point.

In Big Bay de Noc the ice was blown out off Fairport and Sac Bay, but fishermen yesterday were reported to say they would lose few nets because they had them fastened and would be able to locate and salvage them.

The storm disrupted train and bus service in and out of Delta county, but caused little local interference in the local switching yards or the local passenger and freight runs. C&NW time freights between Escanaba and Green Bay were discontinued yesterday, but the regular freights ran northward between Escanaba and Ishpeming.

Yesterday the country's railroads began readjusting their storm blasted schedules. The Streamliner went south on time from Ishpeming yesterday morning, and last night railroad officials expected this morning's Streamliner to be running on time. The Iron and Copper Country Express, No. 161, whose regularly scheduled run is from Chicago to Ishpeming, ran on a transitional schedule yesterday, leaving Green Bay at 4 p. m. coming only as far as Escanaba, where it was turned and sent south as No. 162.

County Will Get $9,260 Land Tax

The conservation department's lands division in Lansing reports that $9,260 in payment of state tax on state-owned lands in Delta county will be received by the Delta county treasurer early in February. When the money is received here it will be apportioned to the townships and the county on the basis of tax levies and the location of the lands.

This year's payment amounts to $425,039.66 to 66 counties. A year ago the tax, totaling more than $438,000, was paid in August, but transfer of records to addressograph plates has speeded preparation of the tax lists. The 10-cent an acre tax is paid on tax home-land, and gift lands and, in northern Michigan, on lands acquired by purchase.

The department is administrator of more than 4,000,000 acres of state forests, game areas, fishing sites and miscellaneous holdings. Taxes on lands purchased since 1933 in counties south of Lake Michigan are not included in the payments since they are computed on a different basis.

Luce county heads the list with a payment of $29,061.10, followed by Schoolcraft, $28,918, and Marquette, $27,114. Six counties will receive more than $20,000 and eight others more than $10,000.

Amounts of payments to counties in the upper peninsula follow:

Alger—$11,101
Baraga—$9,213
Chippewa—$23,421
Delta—$9,260
Dickinson—$23,558

The two other projects are in Ontonagon county, and call for the removal of two present bridges on M-64 near Green. Both are over the Little Cranberry river, and separate bids will be taken on the purchase of steel for the new bridges.

Carpenter Cook Wins In Court

Menominee— Circuit Judge George W. DesJardins of Lapeer, Mich., ruled for the Carpenter Cook company of Menominee in an action it brought against the Michigan Department of Agriculture to prevent collection of fee for inspecting citrus fruit juices to which pure sugar had been added.

It was the contention of the Department of Agriculture that the addition of sugar made the fruit juices subject to its beverage inspection levy.

The 1927 state act regulating the manufacture, bottling and sale of soft drinks, extracts, cordials or non-alcoholic beverages was amended in 1941 to exempt from the inspection fee "pure fruit juices." The case turned on the issue whether the addition of pure sugar to citrus fruit juices made them subject to the inspection fee.

The Carpenter Cook company maintained that its Florida citrus fruit juices were pure fruit juices with sugar added and that the act had no application.

Judge DesJardins held that the beverage inspection act was never intended as a revenue measure and cited that upon inquiry at the trial, in answer to a question by the court, that one of the Department of Agriculture's witnesses stated that inspection was a formality, that the actual issue was the payment of fees by the Carpenter Cook company.

Millions in New Taxes?

THE looseness with which the sales tax diversion amendment was written is just coming to public realization. Gov. Sigler showed how seriously the amendment has crippled state finances with a report to the legislature Thursday that every state employee could be eliminated from the payroll and there still would not be sufficient revenue available to balance the state budget.

This is the kind of information that the voters should have had available to them before they voted for the tax diversion amendment last fall. Proponents of the measure, principally the school lobby, conveyed the impression that adoption of the amendment would not necessarily create a need for new state taxes.

The need is real and it is here now. Millions of dollars will be diverted to many local units of government that have no great need for the money, while the state must impose new taxes to maintain even the most essential services.

The amendment was overwhelmingly adopted by the voters because they wanted to help the schools, which certainly needed financial aid. The Escanaba Daily Press opposed the amendment editorially at the time because it was obvious that the amendment was out of balance, solving one problem only by the creation of a new one.

Gov. Sigler has tossed the problem back into the laps of the school and city authorities who promoted the amendment. Unless they can provide a solution to the financial mess in which the state now finds itself—and Gov. Sigler gives them just one week to do so—it is apparent that a new effort will be made to bring the matter before the voters with the hope of repealing the amendment. In such an event, the proposition would probably be taken before the voters in the April 7 election. The issue then will be whether the public is willing to pay many additional millions in new taxes to support the state. If not, they will have no choice except to repeal the sales tax diversion amendment.

Rent Control Injustice

WASHINGTON is buzzing with excitement concerning the comedy of errors involving the projected 10 per cent increase in rent ceilings, an order which was prepared for release by OPA and then stopped by President Truman minutes before it was to be publicly announced.

The need for relief for landlords in areas where rents have been frozen since 1942 is readily understandable, but what about areas like Delta county where rent control just went into effect last November?

Rents were not under control here or in other counties of the Upper Peninsula, except Chippewa, during the war years. On the whole landlords were reasonable and there was no great need for a rent freeze. Rentals did rise, of course, but not unduly so and certainly not beyond the level of other increases in living costs.

The point is simply that if an order is now issued raising rent ceilings a flat 10 per cent in all rent control areas, Delta county tenants generally will be caught in an unjust squeeze. Far better would it be to eliminate controls entirely than to provide by executive order a 10 per cent rental increase in areas like Delta county, where rents had reached a normal level before controls were put into effect.

It is true that landlords would not be required to boost rents 10 per cent but merely authorized to do so. The psychological factors involved, however, are such that most landlords would put the increase into effect.

Gasoline and Courts

THE State Association of County Supervisors, a powerful lobby in state affairs has approved a resolution proposing a one cent increase in the state gasoline tax, the money to be used for county road improvements.

In another resolution adopted by the supervisors at their convention in Lansing, opposition was expressed to the establishment of county judicial systems as suggested by the Michigan state bar to do away with the township justice courts.

The proposed increase in gasoline taxes, as we have pointed out in these columns in the past, is a matter that should be held in abeyance at least until such time as the state's financial muddle is solved. Piece-meal tax increase legislation, such as that proposed in this resolution, is bad business at this time when the state is confronted with many additional new taxes to meet its own requirements. The gasoline tax increase, it should be noted, would be merely an additional levy on the public that would not help in any degree to solve the state's own financial problem.

As for the opposition expressed by the supervisors concerning the establishment of a county judicial system, a simple study of the proposal advanced by the state bar reveals that the establishment of a county judge system would be optional and not mandatory under the proposed law. It is a step in the right direction to correct an outmoded judicial system at the lowest level.

Better Service

WHEN the heavy snowstorm hit Escanaba a month ago, the city's snow removal program bogged down and it was more than a week before normal traffic was restored throughout the community.

We are indeed happy to note that the storm which hit Escanaba Thursday, although lacking the severity of the earlier storm, found city crews alerted and equipment ready to meet the situation. There was little inconvenience caused to motorists within the city by the storm of this week and Friday morning all streets were open to traffic and a good start had already been made towards snow removal on Ludington street.

It is with pleasure that we call attention to the great improvement in snow removal by city crews within the space of a month's time.

Welcome to Worth

THE Worth company, first of three new industries coming to Escanaba early in 1947, is getting into production this week in its new building, North 15th avenue and No. 23rd street.

As evidence of the sincerity of their purpose in establishing here, the Worth company has erected its own building in Escanaba, and is already talking of enlarging the plant to make room for greater expansion.

The Worth company is fundamentally a manufacturer of fishing goods, but it also produces several specialty lines not connected with the sports industry. The diversity of their product and establishment of a branch of their fishing equipment business here in the heart of famous fishing territory combine to create an arrangement that is mutually beneficial to the community and to the company.

Escanaba welcomes the Worth company to our community. We are confident that its associations in Escanaba will be enjoyable, friendly and profitable.

BETTER LAWMAKERS

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

Legislatures like to reform other people—why not reform themselves? The Council of State Governments, a semi-official body supported by the states to advise them on governmental problems, has just made 12 recommendations for improving the work of state legislatures.

They are asked to do what Congress has just done in reducing the number of committees and arranging for adequate trained help. In addition the states are urged to drop constitutional provisions limiting the lawmakers' salaries and the length of sessions.

No fewer than 32 states out of the 48 limit legislative sessions, 21 of them to 60 days and South Carolina and Wyoming to 40. This is a good way to ensure that nothing useful will be done. It is only too easy for enemies of proposed laws to stall them along until it is too late for passage. The limitation idea comes from the theory that all legislatures are bad and that the more they are hobbled, the better. If any state really thinks that, its citizens should do something more drastic than merely limiting the time during which a legislature may sit.

PATENTED CAR STAKES

(Marquette Eagle-Star)

Five railroads operating in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and Northern Wisconsin have rejected a proposal that flat cars used for log hauling be equipped with patented stakes. The high cost of installation and the recurring expense of replacing equipment is given as the reason.

In view of the expressed willingness of loggers to pay higher freight rates to compensate the railroads for the added expense, the stand of the railroads will be viewed as a case of ducking the issue the most convenient way. Legislation already introduced at the Michigan session should be a warning to the railroads that they should make an effort to meet the situation.

Millions upon millions of young maples and other species of trees have been sacrificed as car stakes over a long period of years. The cutting of those car stakes have been one of the basic factors in the exhaustion of the timber resources of the country. Railroads have been cognizant of this for many years. Now, when the opportunity is presented to bring about a remedy, they grasp for an alibi and cry out the cost is prohibitive. But the public's interest in conservation is so great that the issue will not be closed with that answer.

World Events Analyzed

BY PETER EDSON

Washington — (NEA) — At least four bills appropriating federal money to the states for aid to education will be considered by Congress. Principal sponsors of the four measures are Senators Aiken of Vermont, Green of Rhode Island, Taft of Ohio and Murray of Montana.

Senator Taft's Committee on Labor and Public Welfare will get first whack at them. That won't be for two or three months, however, till this committee gets its program for regulating the labor unions out of the way. Though help for the bogged-down school systems and their underpaid teachers should come first, it doesn't.

Aiken and Green have their bills in. Taft's and Murray's are still to come. All four will call for federal subsidies to the states. The states would spend the money, subject to federal audit perhaps, but without federal supervision or dictation of any educational program. Each state would teach what it chose, and how.

Fundamentally, there are only two concepts on how the federal money shall be dished out. First is a grant-in-aid to every child in school. Second is a grant on the basis of need. The poorer a state is—the less it has to spend on education and the more children it has to educate—the more federal aid it would get.

—EQUALIZING OPPORTUNITIES—
It's in determining the formula for shuffling out the subsidy money that the four Senate bills will differ. The problem before Congress will be to arrive at a compromise that will pass.

Senator Green's bill would authorize the U. S. Commissioner of Education to pay directly to school districts the sum of $15 a year for every child in school. Figuring that there are 30 million youngsters in free, public primary and secondary schools, this would mean an outlay of $450 million a year. The Green bill specifies that all this money must be used to increase teachers' salaries. This is the simplest of the four proposals.

Senator Aiken's bill is intended to equalize educational opportunities in all the states. It would establish a floor of $100 per pupil per year as the minimum educational expenditure.

For 1944 the average U. S. expenditure was $116 per pupil. But it was as low as $42 in Mississippi, as high as $185 in New York. In the 13 Southern states, and in Maine and West Virginia, the expenditures were under the $100 minimum standard set by Aiken.

To raise the standard, Senator Aiken would make grants to the states of $20 per pupil the first year. This would be increased by $10 a year for five years, when the federal payment would be $60 a year. To receive this grant, every state would have to spend at least $40 per pupil per year, which they now all do.

The bill would raise the standard of education in the poorer states. It would enable the richer states to spend still more on their education. They would not be permitted to spend less. The bill appropriates $400 million the first year, increasing to $1.2 billion the fifth year and after.

The Aiken bill would allow the money to be spent not only for teachers' salaries, but for school transportation, health examinations, books and school supplies. Parochial and other private schools would be eligible for 60 per cent of the maximum $60-per-child grant, for everything except instruction in religion.

—PLENTY OF VARIATIONS—
Senator Taft's bill will offer a formula for granting aid to the poorer states only. It will be based on per capita income in each state. It will provide federal grants to bring the expenditures from a state's minimum of $40 up to at least $80 a year for each school child. Aid would be given to public schools only. About 17 states now spending the most on education would get no federal aid at all.

Cost of the Taft plan is put at $150 million the first year, $200 million the second, $250 million the third and following years. Senator Murray's bill, broader in coverage and benefits than all the others, will be based on the idea that everyone needs not just minimum education, but good education. It will provide aid for school construction, pre-schooling, summer camps and adult education. Private and parochial schools would be eligible for aid. Minimum standards of education would be set. Minimum pay for teachers would be put at $1500 the first four years, $2000 thereafter.

Cost of the Murray plan has been estimated at $800 million for the first year, increasing to $2 billion at the end of 10 years.

Out of these four or other similar proposals must come a compromise plan that will determine what aid, if any, is to be given American education by the federal government. There is plenty of opposition.

ist's real name?—Mrs. F. W.

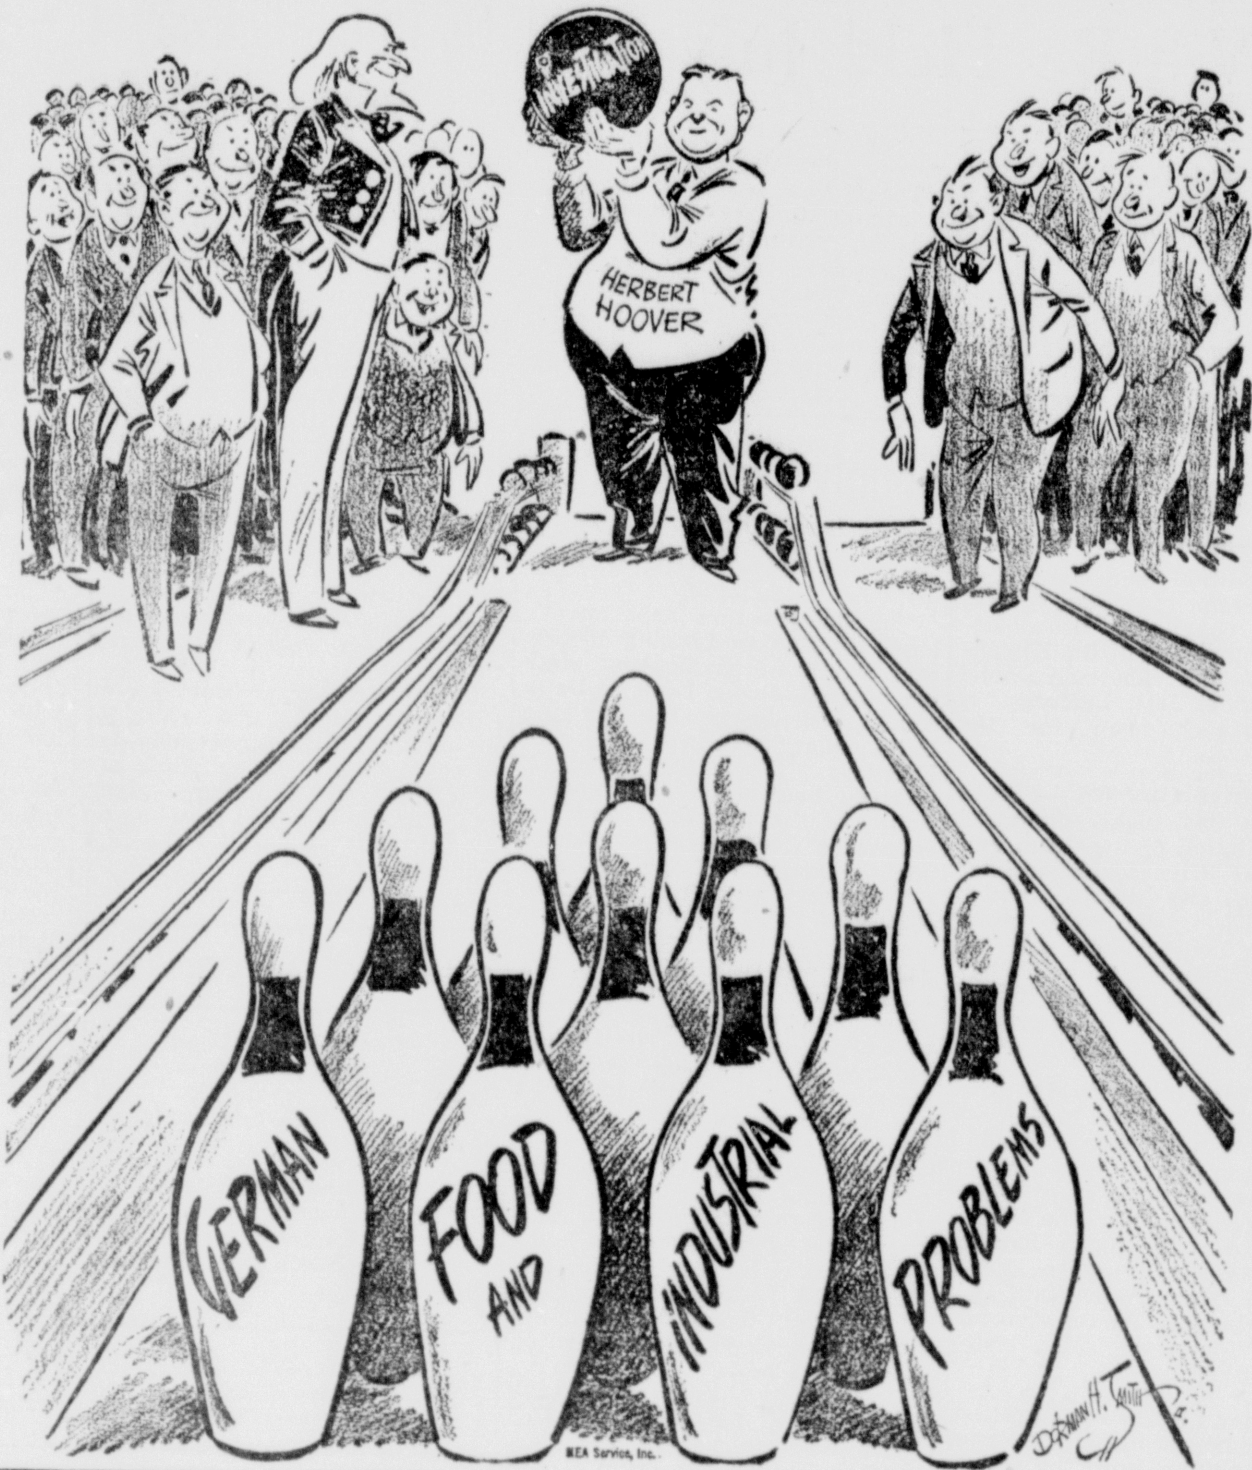

Answer: Her full name is Neysa McMein Baragwanath, pronounced: NEE-suh mak-MEEN BAH-uh-GWAHN'ath.

One of the most incredible names to come to my attention is Enroughity. The pronunciation is—hold tight now—Darby! H. L. Mencken, in "The American Language," explains it thus: "A correspondent writes in explanation of this amazing pronunciation: 'The family (the Darbys), having rather unwillingly had to change their name to Enroughity to secure an inheritance, balanced up by continuing to pronounce Enroughity like their original name—Darby.'"

Rosamond means "renowned protection." Isabel is "worshiper of God." Hortense is a "gardener." Miranda is "worthy of admiration." Belinda is a "serpent." Camille is an "attendant at a sacrifice." And Hilda is "my support."

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

PERHAPS IMPOSSIBLE—This is the second of two columns on the subject of the sea lamprey, vagrant villain of the Great Lakes that is threatening the depletion—perhaps destruction—of our fresh water fishes.

Commercial and game fishermen, state and federal fish experts, are alike alarmed by the lamprey. A 10-year control program will be started this year. The fairly complicated life cycle of the lamprey makes it difficult—some experts say impossible—to control. Scientists estimate the larval life of the sea lamprey as four or five years and the immature period of adult life at a little more than one year to a little more than three years. The multiplication rate is slow compared with fishes—but the rest of the story will reveal why control is so difficult.

—SPAWN IN RIVERS—Like the salmon, the lamprey moves into streams to spawn, preferring fast-moving water. In this regard they differ greatly from the spawning methods of the true eels, which travel far out to sea to spawn, and the larvae then drifts back to the coasts to begin the cycle all over again. The sea lamprey adults, in certain parts of the world, develops spawning runs in the rivers. In the Yukon and in rivers in Scotland and Germany people catch them for food or bait for larger fishes. Eskimos feed them to their dogs. And don't scoff at the idea of eating sea lamprey—King Henry I of England died of indigestion after going on a delicacy. They are still used as food in some European countries, and Great Lakes commercial fishermen are wondering whether they might not be caught here for canning and export.

—NESTS OF ROCKS—Authorities say the lamprey travels upstream largely at night and clings to stones or roots during the day-time. The name lamprey—meaning rock sucker—is descriptive of this practice.

The lampreys also use their sucker mouths in moving stones to build nesting places about one or two feet in diameter in a suitable place in the bed of the stream. They are reported to fan the stones with their tails until the last bit of algae has been washed away. Here they deposit their eggs. Then the adult lamprey dies, its body turning into a soft jelly-like substance that quickly disintegrates.

—THE YOUNG—The young of the lamprey spend several years wriggling about in the streams before making their way down to the Great Lakes waters. They are toothless and eyeless at first. Because of the long period of time between the spawning and the return of the young to deep water the difficulty in controlling the lamprey becomes evident. Even though every adult lamprey were eliminated this spring, billions of young would come down the streams each year for several years. The necessity for a 10-year federal program to control the lamprey thus becomes understandable.

Except for trapping the lamprey in streams before they have reached their spawning grounds, there is no known means of control. Conservationists realize that every stream, no matter how small, must be included in any

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Unfavorable weather conditions last Sunday afternoon caused postponement of the selection of the Escanaba Winter Frolic king and special stunts program until Wednesday evening at the Ludington Park rink.

Over 200 men and boys attended the first father and son banquet held at St. Patrick's last night, an event sponsored by the Holy Name society of the church. A group of women from the parish served the dinner, which started at 7 p. m., and a program of short addresses followed.

Charles Chaison, well known Chicago & Northwestern engineer, was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the general committee of adjustment of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for the fourth consecutive term at the annual meeting held in Chicago, which closed its two weeks sessions Saturday.

Work will be resumed Friday on Escanaba's sewer installation projects, which have been idle for several weeks. Three blocks remain to be completed on First avenue north between 5th and 8th, in addition to another section on the north side.

—Twenty Years Ago
All arrangements have been made for the sleighride of the Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church to be held this evening. Members will meet at the D. A. Oliver home, 721 Fifth avenue south, at 7 o'clock and enjoy a ride of several hours, returning to the Oliver home for refreshments and entertainment.

Manistiquette—Few literary men in America have been more honored by their fellows than has Douglas Malloch, distinguished poet, who will speak at the Manistiquette high school auditorium this evening under the auspices of the local Rotary club.

John Neeson of Manistiquette, who underwent an operation for hernia at St. Francis hospital in Escanaba is as well as can be expected, but he is allowed no visitors for several days.

Preparations for the Older Boys' Conference to be held in Escanaba Feb. 11, 12, 13 are progressing satisfactorily. It was said yesterday at the office of H. D. Brackett, general chairman of conference committee.

effective program, and that the eradication effort must be correlated with similar projects in all states bordering the Great Lakes. Canada also is cooperating in the program.

—DIFFICULTIES—Some of the difficulties to be encountered in such a program is evidenced in the Michigan department of conservation's lamprey trapping experiment in the Clinton and Ojibwa rivers downstate. These have been described as only partly effective, and were abandoned because of their high cost.

The trap is built similarly to a fish trap. Weirs of fine wire netting are extended from the banks to a trap in the center. A man must be kept on duty there 24 hours a day to dip the lampreys out of the enclosure. The wire must be kept free of debris—for when it becomes clogged the lampreys wriggle their way over it.

—NEED COOPERATION—Sportsmen and conservationists in general will find they can be of assistance in efforts to bring the voracious lamprey under control. They can report streams where lampreys spawn, and perhaps they may be called on to help man the traps in springtime. Tons of the lampreys are expected to be caught, and manpower will be needed to keep the traps cleared. Perhaps more effective ways of destroying the parasites may be devised. At Manistiquette last year Walter Burns, former mayor of that city and an ardent fisherman, built a simple device to assist fish in getting above a dam at the paper mill—and found he had invented a lamprey trap. Burns noticed lampreys using the "fish ladder" and shifted the upper end of the ladder or chute over a steel drum—into which the lampreys fell.

For two months the big container filled with spawning lamprey and had to be emptied four times each day. The wriggling mass was burned in the paper mill furnace. —Clint Dunathan.

U. S. Is Losing Shipping Trade

BY S. BURTON HEATH

New York—(NEA) — In the name of economy, the United States is passing up what both the shipping industry and the Maritime Commission regard as the nation's golden opportunity to get a fair share of transoceanic passenger business.

With Germany and Japan knocked out of that important trade, Italy vitally injured, France hard hit by war losses, and the entire economy of transoceanic travel upset, both American operators and the Navy are anxious for this country to cut in for a respectable portion of the passenger business that will begin booming soon.

Congress approved a nine-ship program, and appropriated toward it in the budget for the fiscal year ending next June 30. But President Truman, on advice of Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, pigeon-holed the entire program.

If you want to cross an ocean by surface ship, Great Britain can offer a fleet of 34 more-than-20,000-ton liners headed by the Queens Elizabeth and Mary, the Aquitania and the Mauretania. Meanwhile British yards are speeding construction of six new liners ranging from 24,000 to 30,000 tons each.

If you would like to travel American, there is the 26,454-ton America—period.

After she makes one more trip, the U. S. plans to reconvert the 23,788-ton George Washington, though what to do to her hasn't been decided. In May and July, it is hoped, the President Wilson and Cleveland will be delivered to the American Presidents Line for transatlantic runs. They were started as troop transports, but completed as 19-knot, 552-passenger liners.

Of the nine modern luxury liners that Congress thought it was getting started, Steelman's edict has put six on the shelf for a presently unpredictable period. President Truman provided $60,000,000 for the other three in his recent budget proposals (they are supposed to cost $80,000,000 in all). These are to be 653-passenger, 22-knot craft for operation by American Export Lines to the Mediterranean.

The other six were supposed to include three 28-knot, 560-passenger liners to be operated by Moore-McCormick in the South American trade; two 30-knot American President liners, each with accommodations for 1238 passengers, to provide fast service to the Orient; and a $30,000,000 running mate for the U. S. Lines' America in European service. It and the America, alternating, would give weekly service between New York and British-French ports.

—"DREAM SHIP"—
But it is known that President John F. Franklin of the U. S. Lines has submitted alternative plans for a 33-knot, 1400-passenger "dream ship" that would cost around $50,000,000 and would be the best ship ever built for the American passenger service.

Congress provided that the nine ships should be constructed for sale or lease to American operators. The Administration has decided not to authorize any construction unless it has commitments for their actual sale. Such a ban is included in the President's present budget proposals.

It is said in shipping circles that the three American Export liners were given precedence because only that line was prepared to agree to buy. But while the U. S. Lines will not comment, it is known that Franklin offered to put up $25,000,000 of the company's money for his "dream ship" if the Maritime Commission would go ahead with it.

Legally it is possible for an operator to go to a shipyard and buy a liner. Economically it is not.

Construction in this country before the war cost almost exactly twice as much as in British yards. The present differential is at least as great. Its extent and its reasons are suggested by the fact that the average British shipyard worker gets $25.85 for 47 hours, while the average American gets $55.20 for 40 hours. On a 40-hour basis the American gets slightly more than two and a half times as much as his British counterpart.

The differential in operating costs is great. The Harvard School of Business said, in a report prepared for the Maritime Commission, that before the war it cost from $900 to $2200 a day more to operate an American liner than one under foreign registry. There is no acceptable current comparison available. But some idea of the wartime increase in American operating costs can be obtained from this wage contrast:

A 27-day round trip of the Manhattan, before the war, required a crew of 569 who were paid $40,221. The Manhattan is not returning to civilian service. But the America, launched during the war, carries the same number of passengers. For her two post-war round trips the crew has numbered 678 and the payroll cost has averaged $150,000—more than three and a half times the pre-war payroll for the Manhattan.

—U. S. SUBSIDIES—
To permit our ships to operate in competition with lower-cost, cheaper-operated British and other liners, the U. S. provides subsidies. If the Maritime Commission eventually builds a transatlantic liner to cost $50,000,000 it will place the order, boss the job and pay the bills, and write off the difference between construction cost here and abroad. This will run at least 50 per cent. So the U. S. Lines will pay no more than $25,000,000. Of this it must pay one-fourth at once, and the remainder over 20 years with 3½ per cent interest on unpaid balances. Thereafter, the government will provide an operating subsidy equivalent to the difference between American costs and foreign.

Obviously no operator can compete in the passenger trade without benefit of these subsidies. But they place him entirely at the mercy of the government.

Look at the bright side! It's cold enough to get home before that package of ice cream starts dripping.

Butter has taken a drop—from too dog-gone high to just too high.

INDIAN LAKE PARK POPULAR
3331 Campers Enjoyed Outings There In 1936

The popularity of Indian Lake State Park during the season just past is revealed that nearly one thousand camp permits were issued and 3,331 campers enjoyed stays of varied length at the trailer and tent camp grounds last summer.

In a summary of this phase of life at the state park during 1936, Robert O. Olson, park manager, has compiled data from the camp registry showing the number of people who camped in tents and in trailers, the number of camp days spent and the states where the registrants were from.

Tent campers, it is revealed, numbered 2,474, represented by 707 registrations and spent on an average of about 2.7 days. Trailer campers numbered 2,380, in 256 groups, staying an average of about three days.

Visitors from twenty-one states, two Canadian provinces and the district of Columbia are listed among the visitors. Michigan, naturally, led with 710 camping parties, numbering 2,491 individuals. Illinois was second with 83 camping parties, Wisconsin followed with 41, Ohio with 40, Indiana with 37, California with 15, and small parties from one to five from Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Oklahoma, Kansas, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Washington, Wyoming, District of Columbia, Ontario and British Columbia.

Many of the visitors were entranced by the beauty of their surroundings and the facilities placed at their disposal and Mr. Olson is anticipating a large increase in the number of tourists this coming season.

Better Transportation Facilities Urged At Regional Conference

A public meeting, with members of the public service commission present, called for the purpose of considering the urgency of putting Soo Line trains 86 and 87 back into service, will be held at Sault Ste. Marie on February 11 and 12, it was announced at a regional conference held at the court house here Friday afternoon.

Present at the conference were representatives of towns in the area served by the Soo Line railway, the meeting having been called to discuss the public's interest in the matter.

Harry Cherryman, of Trout Lake, who presided at the meeting, strongly urged concerted action on the part of all communities to bring about the resumption of this service. There should be at least five hundred interested people at the meeting he said.

Cherryman added that the reinstatement of these two trains was not, by far, the only objective sought. "We not only want those trains back in service," he declared, "but we want better service. We want a streamline train—one in which passengers may ride in comfort and make connections that will be more to the convenience of the traveling public." He urged that the petitions, soon to be passed, be given full circulation.

A round table discussion at the meeting brought to light many problems affecting businessmen living in the area.

One of the chief matters of complaint brought to light was the transportation difficulty that makes it so much easier for dealers to buy their goods at Chicago, Milwaukee and Duluth, when they would much rather deal with firms in Grand Rapids and Detroit. Transportation facilities between the lower peninsula and this area are so inadequate, one merchant declared that whereas a few years ago he could get deliveries from Grand Rapids in a couple of days, those same deliveries now would take two weeks or more.

Representatives of fishermen in Manistique, Naubinway and Gladstone, complained that the discontinuance of trains had worked a hardship on the business as delay in getting their fish to market and the price of their product.

The refusal of railroads to cooperate in the matter of railway connections was also deplored. Cases were cited when one train would pull out from the station at Trout Lake even though the other train had already put in its appearance. This has resulted in the stranding of passengers who have been forced to wait many weary hours until the next train, the deterioration of perishable goods shipped by express and in a few cases funerals had to be postponed because bodies in transit were held over because of poor connections at that point.

Godfrid S. Johnson, city attorney of Manistique, reminded those present that the chief reason why the trains were discontinued was because so few people showed interest enough in the matter to be present at the hearing in Escanaba last September. "It must not happen again," he said.

Present at Friday's meeting were representatives from Gladstone, Trout Lake, Eckerman, Rudyard, Moran, Rexton, Naubinway, Gulliver and Manistique.

Eskymos Lose To Soo, 41-34; Gladstone, Manistique Defeated

Furloughs Refused 3 Cadet Stars To Play Pro Football

Washington, Jan. 31 (AP)—Three West Point football greats—Felix Blanchard, Glenn Davis and Barney Poole—were thrown for a big monetary loss today when the war department flatly rejected their requests for furloughs to play pro football.

With a clamor of opposition to their requests rising on Capitol Hill, Secretary of War Patterson acted swiftly. He not only turned them down but virtually tabbed them for service overseas where, he said, "there is a shortage of second lieutenants."

Thus, when another gridiron season rolls around, the famous trio may be far from the roaring crowds and the big money.

The three stars—many regard Blanchard and Davis as the academy's greatest one-two gridiron combination—had asked for four months fall leave following their graduation next June.

Patterson's mention of a need for lieutenants abroad could mean that Blanchard, Davis and Poole might not even see a professional game, let alone play in one.

It also was in line with a suggestion by Chairman Andrews (R-NY) of the House armed services committee that the three be assigned to occupation duty in Germany or Japan just like many another "shavetail."

Even before Patterson announced his ruling, congressmen lined up in an "N" formation—"N" for "No"—against the players' bid to play for pay.

Strong interest had been aroused because of their outstanding ability and the desire of many fans that they not be cut off from the game at the peak of their ability. Davis and Blanchard were three times chosen for the All-America backfield and Poole was a star end.

Harry Gafner Says

It's a strike... another great moment for your sportsman's ego! Strikes come easier when you bowl on our well kept alleys. Stop in tonight.

ARCADE ALLEYS

The question arose as to the possibility of their resigning from the Army. However, when a cadet enters West Point he is pledged to serve eight years, including the four he spends at the academy. One officer said there might be a question whether resignations would be accepted.

Rep. Twyman (R-Ill.), a Navy veteran of both World Wars, quarter-backed the Capitol Hill move against granting the requested leaves.

Rep. Goff (R-Idaho), an ex-footballer, commented that if Blanchard, Davis and Poole are granted the requested leave, "the lowliest unheralded private would be entitled to an equal opportunity to be released from his military duties to make more money on the outside."

Rep. Amdes of Illinois, Republican whip, "I thought we sent these boys to West Point to learn to be future officers and not pro football players."

Rep. Coffin (R-Mich.): I do not feel that this is conducive to the maintenance of high standards to which they have subscribed their allegiance to the armed forces."

After a more or less even battle for the first 2 1/2 periods, Ishpeming put on a windup drive that defeated Gladstone 41 and 26 in a basketball game on the Ishpeming floor last night. Goethe and his under-the-basket shots took scoring honors for the evening with 24 points.

NEGAUNEE HOT IN 66-39 WIN

Emeralds Play Without
Two Regulars Against
Scoring Demons

A Negaunee high school team hotter than the five pistols of Jesse James shot the ears off of the Emeralds of the Manistique high school team last night at Negaunee, laying in 66 bullets to 39 that Manistique was able to slip in from time to time.

Playing without the services of Rydquist, tall guard whose height would have helped mightily under the backboard, and Daugherty, their high scoring ace, Manistique was up against a team that was riding high. Led by Clark with 16 points, Anderson with 14, and Rantanen with 12, Negaunee jumped into a fast-breaking, polo-pony gallop at the first whistle and didn't pull rein till the last quarter when they eased up to cool off.

Clark and company were throwing them from all over the floor. The first eleven tries went slipping through the net before they finally missed one.

The Negaunee reserves took the preliminary game, too—39-37.

Curlers Congregate In Sault Ste. Marie

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Jan. 31 (AP)—More than 400 curlers from Ontario, Michigan and Wisconsin will converge on the Sault this weekend for the 60th annual bonspiel of the Northern Ontario Curling Association.

The bonspiel opens Monday morning and will continue throughout the week with six rinks in action at one time.

Only Michigan entry is the Detroit Curling Club with Dr. L'Hercu, bonspiel chairman of the club, as its skipper.

Over 30 Riders Enter Manistique Ski Tourney

More than 30 ski riders in Class B and C will compete in the Manistique ski tournament Sunday, sanctioned by the U. S. Central Ski Association. Riders include representatives of ski clubs in Ishpeming, Ironwood, Iron Mountain, Marquette and Manistique. Escanaba will be represented by a lone entrant, John Grodesky, unattached, who placed fourth in the ski championships at Caspian last Sunday.

The Manistique tournament will get underway at 2:30 o'clock at the Jamestown Scaffolding near Manistique. Judges assigned to the tournament are Leonard Flaas, Ishpeming, and Walter Wick, Ironwood, John Osterman will be the chief scorer.

The entries in the meet include the following: Senior Class—George Wickman, Class B—Gene Dahlin, Ironwood; Lawrence Rubick, Manistique; Jim Holtz, Iron Mountain; Henry Isabella, Ishpeming; Robert Anderson, Ishpeming; John Grodesky, Escanaba; Cliff Perrault, Ishpeming; Ted Hentschell, Manistique; Allan Hamari, Iron Mountain; Owen Woodward, Ishpeming; Cliff Moen, Iron Mountain; Bob Ellis, Ishpeming; Robert Mink, Ironwood; LeRoy St. Onge, Ishpeming; Lee Clash, Iron Mountain; Jack Paquette, Iron Mountain; Don Holbrook and Frank Peterson, Northern State.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Manistique's first sanctioned ski tournament since affiliation with the U. S. Central Ski Association will be conducted Sunday afternoon at the Jamestown Scaffolding in Manistique. It shapes up as a highly entertaining affair with an entry list of about 30 Upper Peninsula riders from Iron Mountain, Ironwood, Ishpeming, Marquette, Manistique and Escanaba. The lone rider from Escanaba is John Grodesky, who placed fourth in the Class B division at Caspian last Sunday. The Class C list is topped by John Quick of Manistique who won the Class C event at Caspian.

Although it is understandable, it is regrettable that Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, the one-two punch of the Army football team, have elected to abandon military careers, at least temporarily, in order to cash in on their gridiron fame. A similar request to the War Department has also been made by a teammate, Barney Poole, end of the Army undefeated football team. The cadets have requested four months furlough next fall in order to play professional football. The men are not asking outright releases from their "contract" with the War Department and presumably they are prepared to fulfill the contract after the professional football season comes to an end next fall.

SWIFTS TO PLAY AT BARK RIVER

Will Battle Iron Kings
Of Iron Mountain,
Without Johnson

Minus the services of Roy Johnson, who hamstrung himself in the Ishpeming runaway a week ago last Wednesday, the Tom Swifts of Escanaba will meet the Iron Kings, an aggregation of former Iron Mountain and Kingsford high school basketball stars, in a game at the Bark River Community building, next Sunday afternoon. The preliminary game between Oberg's of Escanaba and Rapid River will begin at 1:15 p. m.

Kositzky will be taking over Johnson's place at forward in the Swifts' starting lineup while the rocky-faced Swede straddles the bench nursing a ligament torn loose from the flesh when he coked himself in the Ishpeming game. It is the generally accepted theory that Johnson has no one to blame but himself for his injury, since he is on normally amiable terms with his teammates, none of whom is ungenerally to put the boots to his own captain until the close of the basketball season, and then kicking distance of Johnson the whole evening. On that memorable night, as a matter of fact, there were few occasions when an Ishpeming man was close enough to a Swift player to interfere greatly with the play.

Playing with the Iron Kings are Paoli and Izzo, former Iron Mountain high school stars. The cream of the Kingsford basketball crop has also been skinned for the Bark River trip.

In addition to Kositzky, Gauthier at forward, Ranguette, center, Anderson and Dufour at guard, will jump to the opening whistle.

On Monday night, Feb. 3, the Tow Swifts take a trip to Negaunee where they'll meet the Negaunee Chateau basketball team.

RESERVES WIN IN PRELIMINARY

Escanaba Sustains 8th
Successive Defeat,
New Record

The Eskymos established a new EHS record for consecutive basketball defeats last night, losing to the Soo Blue Devils, 41-34, for their eighth successive trimming. The Escanaba Reserves, however, snatched a 33 to 29 victory from the Perkins high school team in the preliminary game at the Junior high school gymnasium.

The Escanaba team made a battle of it for over three periods but the taller Soo team asserted its superiority in the last frame, controlling the ball most of the way.

It was a slam-bang ball game in which a total of 46 fouls were called. Each team lost two men in the final quarter with five personal fouls.

The Blue Devils snatched the lead at the start of the game and were out in front, 9 to 6, at the end of the opening frame. They extended this lead to 14-7 early in the second quarter and appeared headed for an easy victory, but the Eskymos sprung to life with their most spirited rally of the night and scored 11 successive points before the visitors returned to the scoring column. Escanaba led at halftime, 19-17.

It was give and take in the third stanza with the ball game tied up no less than four times. Just before the period ended the Blue Devils broke a 27-all deadlock and were never headed thereafter. The third period score was 30-27 for the visitors.

Deane's foul shot brought the count to 30-28 at the start of the final period but the taller Soo team shot ahead, 35-29, at the intermission. In the final four minutes of play, Soon controlled the ball most of the time and the Eskymos changed to a man for man defense that was unsuccessful. The Blue Devils' offense, however, broke through the Eskymos' defense.

The Eskymo Reserves chalked up their victory over Perkins as a result of a sharp scoring attack in the third period that netted 14 points and brought the score to 28-18. Perkins made a valiant rally in the final stanza but was unable to bridge the gap.

Crack Fields Entered For Millrose Games

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—Spiked last Saturday, is a top-heavy fashion stars of the indoor circuit move into Madison Square Garden for the first time this season tomorrow night to run and jump in the 49th annual Millrose Games, a 23-event program with an entry list comparable to those of prewar days.

Crack fields have been listed for all three of the meet's middle distance features—the Wanamaker mile, Mel Sheppard 600 and half-mile run—and a capacity crowd of some 15,000 is assured since every seat in the big Eighth Avenue arena was sold weeks ago.

Gilbert Dadds of the Boston Athletic Association, who came out of retirement to run away from his pursuers and take the K. of C. mile in 4:09.1 at Boston last Saturday, is a top-heavy favorite to hang up another triumph for the 11 trips around the Garden oval.

It may be the Nebraska-born preacher's last New York appearance at the distance for which he holds the world indoor record of 4:06.4. He announced last Wednesday that after running the mile in the Boston A. A. Games next week he would switch to longer distances.

Dadds' opponents tomorrow night will be Leslie MacMittell and Tommy Quinn of the New York Athletic Club, Eddie Walsh of Manhattan College and Rune Gustafsson, Swedish holder of the world 1,000 meter record making his third start in indoor competition.

The 600 starters will be Elmore Harris of the Shore Athletic Club, defending champion and National AAU titleholder; Herb McKenley of Illinois, world outdoor quarter-mile record holder; George Guida of Villanova, and Johnny Quigley of Manhattan.

Guida beat Harris in 1:10.9 at Boston last week and McKenley defeated him in 1:10.8 late last season. Quigley, metropolitan champion, will be making his first Garden start since 1941 but is rated better than ever.

In the Millrose 880 it will be Joe Nowicki of Fordham, Bill Husle of the New York Athletic Club, Malvin Whitfield of Ohio State, Stan Callender of New York University, Bill McGuire of the 60th Regiment, Bill Atkinson of Manhattan and Bill Shuman of Penn State.

Harrison Dillard of Baldwin Wallace, holder of all the national outdoor hurdles titles and winner of his previous indoor starts this year, is favored in the 60-yard high sticks, in which Sweden's European champion, Haakon Lidman, also is entered.

The field for the 60-yard dash includes such speedsters as Eddie Conwell and Bfneyr Ewell, former national champions; Bill Mathis of Illinois, National AAU and NCAA outdoor 100-yard titleholder; Tom Carey, present National AAU indoor spring champ, and Army's versatile Glenn Davis, making his first Garden appearance.

ALLIED CONTROL ENDED IN ITALY

Need For Commission To Guide Government No Longer Exists

Rome, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Allies tonight abolished, effective at midnight, the Allied Control Commission set up shortly before the Italian armistice to advise and supervise the Italian government.

Gen. Sir William Morgan, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theater, announced the commission—headed for the past year by Rear Adm. Ellery W. Stone of the U. S. Navy—was being eliminated because the need for it "no longer exists."

Morgan said abolition of the commission was part of the general reduction of military establishments in Italy, preparatory to the signing of the Italian peace treaty in Paris Feb. 10.

The "residual functions" of the commission will be absorbed by Allied force headquarters to which Stone will be attached as chief of the Italian military affairs section.

A simultaneous announcement said Stone's right-hand man, British Brig. Matthew Carr and U. S. Col. J. De Walbach Penn, had been appointed chief and deputy chief, respectively, of the liaison and civil affairs branch with offices in Rome.

Stone's section will be charged with the "general supervision and direction of the Italian armed forces." The functions of the section will "terminate when the Italian treaty becomes effective," Morgan said.

Munising Takes Eben In See-Saw

Munising finally broke loose from Eben in a pull and haul basketball game at Munising last night to come through with a final quarter spurt and a 35-29 score.

It was Munising's game all the way except in the third quarter, but by a margin not always apparent. Johnson, Eben guard, opened the second half with a swisher, and Kallio, Eben forward, dumped another to give Eben a 17-16 advantage. From then on throughout the quarter it was nip and tuck. At the end of the third quarter the score read 24-23, Eben's favor.

The fourth started on the same level. Kallio's gift shot evened it at 25 all. Then Sowa, Munising forward, laid in the 27-25 shot that broke the jam, and it was Munising all the way home.

HIGH REVENUE TO HELP WITH TAX SLASHING

income persons the same 20 percent reduction.

The retreat from the "across the board" approach came after Rep. Engel (R-Mich.) leading a revolt in Republican ranks, charged in the House that this would mean a two cents a week tax reduction for the $12 a week man and $50,000 a year for the $300,000 man.

If the Republican Congress passes the bill by Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.) embodying the 20 percent across the board proposal, Engel said, it might "spell defeat" for the GOP in 1948.

Colin F. Stam, chief of the staff of tax experts employed by Congress, told the Senate-House budget committee today that revenues in the fiscal year beginning July 1 are likely to reach $37,928,000,000.

Rep. Taber (R-NY), chairman of the budget group through which Congress will review the president's $37,500,000,000 budget and set its own ceiling on spending, told reporters that the extra $200,000,000 estimated by Stam would make easier the Republican program of balancing the budget, reducing the national debt and cutting taxes.

Excise Levies Handy

Also, he said this program would be facilitated further by legislation freezing excise levies—on liquor, furs, jewelry and other so-called luxuries—at their wartime levels and maintaining the increased postal rates. This would bring around $1,500,000,000 into the treasury, above the estimates by the president and Stam.

Moreover, Taber declared "I still stand on" prior estimates that Mr. Truman's budget figure can be cut about $5,000,000,000—as a further aid to debt payment and budget balancing.

After today's meeting of the budget committee, Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.) said "it is just going around in circles, doing nothing" toward arriving at a spending ceiling. Rep. Doughton (D-NC) said "They haven't done anything but talk, and there's a confusion of figures."

TOLEDO UPSETS U. OF M., 59-52

Toledo, O., Jan. 31 (AP)—Thrilling a frantic fourth quarter rally by Michigan, the Toledo Rockets tonight upset the second-place Big Nine Wolverines 59 to 52 for Toledo's fifth straight victory before a record 1947 local basketball crowd of 7,000 fans.

Dal Zuber, sharpshooting Toledo guard poured 18 points through the hoop and fired a third-quarter fielder which broke a 33-33 deadlock and sent the Rockets into a lead which they never relinquished.

Sparked with timely baskets by Zuber, Chuck Harmon and George Busch, the Rockets rolled to a 12-point margin, 59 to 47, with three minutes remaining in the hectic tilt and braced their defense to halt a late Michigan flurry which netted the Wolverines five points.

During a hard-fought first quarter in which the count was knotted four times, Zuber arched a free throw to give Toledo a 10-9 lead. The Rockets clung to a one-point margin until Forward Boyd McCaslin of Michigan dropped a free toss in the final seconds of the first half to knot the score 31-31 at intermission.

After an exchange of baskets, Zuber meshed a two-pointer which gave the Rockets a 35-33 lead and sparked Toledo's game-winning scoring spurge. Harmon and Busch, Toledo forwards, contributed 14 and 11 points, respectively, as the underdog Rockets notched their 10th triumph against five losses.

McCaslin, center Bill Roberts and Guard Bill Mikulich shared Michigan's scoring honors with 10 points apiece as the highly-rated Wolves suffered their third setback of the season.

ACCUSED GAME FIXER GIVES UP

Associate Of Lepke And Dutch Schultz Held In Bribery Case

New York, Jan. 31 (AP)—David (Pete) Krakauer, identified by the district attorney's office as a gambler who handled $70,000 in bets in a day, quietly surrendered today on charges he participated in the attempted "fix" of the Dec. 15 professional football title game.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan flashed a nationwide alarm for the 42-year-old Krakauer on Tuesday, after he had been indicted with two others on bribery and conspiracy charges by a grand jury in for football case.

In another phase of New York's sports gambling inquiry, the State Athletic Commission today put off until Tuesday its hearing on the $100,000 bribe offer to Middleweight Contender Rocky Graziano to throw a Madison Square Garden bout.

Shortly after Krakauer had walked calmly into the district attorney's office with his attorney, Hogan announced that he would attempt to have the case against the three men put on the court calendar "in a week or two."

General Sessions Judge James G. Wallace set bail of $35,000 for Krakauer after the former convict had pleaded innocent.

The grand jury returned the indictments Tuesday after listening to lengthy testimony by Alvin J. Paris, already convicted of trying to bribe two New York Giants' backfield aces to "lay down" in their National League championship game with the Chicago Bears.

The players, Frank Filchock and Merle Hapes, testified they refused the offers, but both are under league suspension at present for failing to report the attempted bribes.

Harvey Stemmer and Jerome Krakauer, the other two men indicted, pleaded innocent Tuesday to the bribery and conspiracy charges.

Zarowitz was said by police to have been a clerk in the Elizabeth, N. J., office of a gambling ring for which Paris was front man. Stemmer is serving a prison term for attempting to bribe Brooklyn College basketball players two years ago.

Krakauer, who has been treated recently for a heart ailment, has a record of six convictions on charges ranging from arson to bookmaking. Detectives have said he was an associate of Arthur (Dutch Schultz) Flegenheimer and Louis (Lepke) Buchalter.

The two starting favorites of the tournament, PGA titlist Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., and U. S. Open titleholder Mangrum of Chicago, were among seven deadlocked at 135. First-round pacesetter Clark was also in this position, taking a two-over-par 72 today after yesterday's 63.
